

Evidence and claim filter

Every source motif receives a disposition before entering the technical substrate

Rule: source-derived content and engineering normalization remain visibly distinct in the report, inventory and code comments.